FOREWORD

To All Loyal Wichitans:

GREETINGS

The mission of the 1919 Wichitan will be fulfilled if it shall bring back to all loyal Wichitans of this and of other Senior Classes a few pleasant memories of the four years spent in the Wichita High School, and if it serves in some measure to strengthen the bond of interest that must always exist between each of us and our High School.

Class Chronicle

THE CLASS of 1919 made its first appearance at Wichita High School in the fall of 1915. Not being exceptions to the general rule, the members of the class were naturally timid and in awe of the upperclassmen. However, as the year progressed, and they became better acquainted with the school and its customs, they began to enter into the spirit of the school. According to custom, this class was not organized, and consequently attracted very little attention from the rest of the school. However, a few of the more studious ones settled down to making grades which attracted attention, and in this way they started their high school career.

The fall of 1916 found most of the class back at school and ready to prove themselves an important factor in the school. No timidity or backwardness was in evidence now, for these people no longer were freshmen, but sophomores—wise, lively sophomores. As early as possible, a meeting was called and the following officers were elected: Harold Rounsavell, president; Garnet Westbrook, vice-president; Louise Avey, secretary; Carrol Brown, treasurer; Max Buckingham, sergeant-at-arms; and Paul Duke, yell-leader. Later in the year Ruth Schollenberger was elected vice-president to take the place of Garnet Westbrook who moved out of town. Under the capable leadership of these people, everything undertaken was a decided success. The first sophomore party was greatly enjoyed, but the second was a greater success, because of the unusual and exceedingly attractive features of the program. That year the class was well represented in the school activities. One of their number brought honor to the class by making the debating team. Several members of the class served on second teams in athletics, and in the interclass meets the nineteeners made a splendid showing. At the end of the school year, the class was considered very progressive.

When school opened in the fall of 1917, the junior class had dwindled somewhat, but each of those who remained realized the importance of the work ahead of him and his duty to the class and to the school. After a few weeks the class met and was organized. Donald Boggs was elected president; Pauline Welwood, vice-president; Virginia Giroux, secretary; Thornton Sargent, treasurer; George Pease, sergeant-at-arms; Louise Avey, class reporter; and Virgil Cunliffe, yell-leader. After a short time it was decided to have a junior-senior party with the seniors acting as hosts. The party was well attended by both juniors and seniors. The second party given about the middle of the year was a joint party, and the juniors and seniors equally shared the honors of hosts. This party proved to be as successful as the first one. The third party was given in the spring, and was a party in which the juniors had a chance to display their ability as hosts. Needless to say, the juniors kept their reputation and showed the seniors that they could furnish real entertainment in the way of a very clever party. By this time the class of 1919 was well represented in all kinds of school activities. There were class representatives on the first football team, the first basket-ball team, and on the track and baseball teams. In addition to this, the class was again represented on the debating team. At the annual field day, the juniors showed the seniors a good fight. At the end of the school year, they were all ready for a vacation to rest for the big year of high school life, the senior year.

The effects of the war on the class was shown by the small number enrolled for school in the fall of 1918. The number of boys had decreased noticeably, because many of them had answered the country's call and entered government service of some kind. The boys who did not return because of the war numbered about twenty-five. Some of them made enviable records in France, but the services of the most of them were confined to this country. Few classes in any Kansas high school have as good records in this respect as the 1919 class of W. H. S.

Early in the year the class held a meeting and elected: Virgil Cunliffe, president; Pauline Welwood, vice-president; Ruth Schollenberger, secretary; Max Buckingham, treasurer; William Holleicke, sergeant-at-arms; Howard McCune, yell-leader; and Margaret Wilbur, class reporter. Later in the year Esther Carothers was chosen class poet. Work had just started in earnest when the influenza epidemic became so serious that it was necessary for the schools to close for about four weeks. This was a great hindrance to the work of all the classes. At the end of the four weeks, the situation being somewhat improved, school began again with half-day sessions. This continued for two weeks, and then the influenza situation was so improved that school work was again resumed on the regular schedule. The first junior-senior party which had been scheduled to take place in October had to be postponed four different times on account of the quarantine. Because of the postponement it was decided that only two parties would be held instead of the customary three. The first one was held in February with the seniors acting as hosts. The second party with the juniors as hosts took place later in the year and was indeed a very pleasing and interesting affair.

A committee was appointed to select a play for the class to present. After a great deal of consideration the play, "Mice and Men," by Madeleine Ryley was selected. The work on the play was begun late in the first semester and Mr. Gossett, who coached the play the previous year, was again secured as the director. Almost all seniors who were eligible came to the tryouts and were very enthusiastic and eager to see who would be selected for the main cast. After a great deal of consultation and a week of tryouts, the final cast was selected. Real work began almost immediately, and after about two months of rehearsing, the play was ready to present. The three performances were given on Monday and Tuesday, March 3 and 4. School was dismissed early on Tuesday afternoon to accommodate those who wished to attend the matinee. Every performance was attended by large crowds, much to the satisfaction of the whole senior class. All who saw any performance of the play proclaimed it a decided success. The play was also a success financially, as more than $700 was cleared. This was almost $100 more than the profits on the play the year before.

The seniors were exceedingly well represented in every form of athletics. It was seniors who formed the backbone of both the football and basket-ball teams, and two seniors were named on the all-state team. Also the seniors were well represented in track and baseball. Four members of the senior class were on the debating team which so ably represented the school in the debating contests.

As is the custom the school publications were edited by a senior English class. The annual, as usual, was published by the seniors. Although the class this year worked against many difficulties, due to the unsettled conditions of everything, when all was summed up it is found that the class of 1919 has always been one of the foremost classes in the school. The fact that the number left to be graduated was considerably smaller than it has been for several years, is accounted for by the fact that so many of the boys were called in the service.

Every member of the senior class realizes that it would have been impossible to spend more profitably the four years spent in W. H. S., and, as a whole, the class wishes to be remembered for its "service, knowledge and chivalry."

Senior Class Song 1919

ESTHER CAROTHERS

Tune, "Smiles"

Best class you've seen here
Is the nineteen nineteen year.
Always ready, ever steady,
Helps both far and near.
For she gave her boys
In the battles' awful noise.
Some boys died there, others tried there
To preserve our joys.

Now we say, "Good-bye"
To our school the Wich'ta High,
Where we've worked some, and we've shirked some
Four years swiftly fly.
Teachers, one and all,
We will miss your beck and call,
For you've sought us and you've taught us
Things both great and small.

Friendships true with cheer
From all of our classmates dear
Keep joy starting, as we're parting
From our High School here.
Sweet words have been said
In our hearts they'll ne'er be dead.
Never broken now they're spoken
So we have no dread.

CHORUS—Tune, "Long, Long Trail"

It's a happy time we've had here
And now has come time to part.
But each one is taking with him
True and loyal heart.
To our High School we'll be loyal
All of our life-journey through,
And we'll always hail with eagerness
The dear old White and Blue.

The Purple and Gold

CAST OF CHARACTERS

I	SUCCESS	The Class of 1920	VI	CONFIDENCE
II	SIR RIVAL	Other Classes	VII	WISDOM
III	MINISTERS	Student Council Representatives	VIII	TALENT
IV	HIGH OFFICIALS	Class Officers	IX	HOSPITALITY
V	BENEFACTORS	Teachers	X	INTELLIGENCE

Act I takes place in vast world of Wichita High School. Success enters as a Freshman into the background of the stage, but soon advances into the limelight led by Talent and Intelligence while Sir Rival ridicules. With aid of Wisdom, Success chooses six ministers for the Supreme Council. Curtain falls mid applause.

Act II, same scene with Success, a Sophomore, robed in purple and gold. Talent holds hand of Success, and Confidence leads her to the road of activity. Capable Officials and six ministers as in Act I are chosen for Success by Wisdom, and Hospitality enters to hold her with social events.

Act III. Same scene as Act II. Enter Success as a Junior, surrounded by Wisdom, Intelligence, Confidence, Talent, six worthy ministers and her competent officials. Sir Rival in background secretly envies Success. The Benefactors look at her with pride and admiration. Success stars in athletics, and in musical lines and her parties are very original. The curtain falls with Success foremost in the School world.

The last act is yet to be shown, for the curtain just now falls on Act III, but we know that Success will be even a better actor in the last of the play. The most interesting events of the entire performance will take place in Act IV., and when the curtain falls, the Purple and Gold will be seen flying above all others.

FRESHMAN "B" CLASS

The Underclassmen

IT WOULD BE impossible for any one in Wichita High School not to realize fully that the sophomore class is alive. A most striking evidence of its vim was displayed in the enthusiastic assembly yelling. In every school activity, Clubs, Athletics, Band, Orchestra, and Debate, the class is represented. Richard Shacklett president, is the class athlete, having been an impassable guard in football and a famous captain in basket-ball.

An original and unique idea was carried out by the sophomores in remembering each member of the class who was ill by sending cards expressing sympathy. Another original feature was the "shining party" held Sat., Feb. 22d, at which a number of good workers assembled to polish the trophies won by athletes of W. H. S.

The most anticipated event of the year to the sophomores was the class party held March 14. As green and white were the class colors, the date was set as near St. Patrick's Day as possible. After making the rounds of the side shows, being fascinated by the gypsy fortune teller, kissing the Blarney Stone, and perhaps being brought before the magistrate, every one was ready for the assembly program. Then every Paddy and his Colleen were eager for the refreshments.

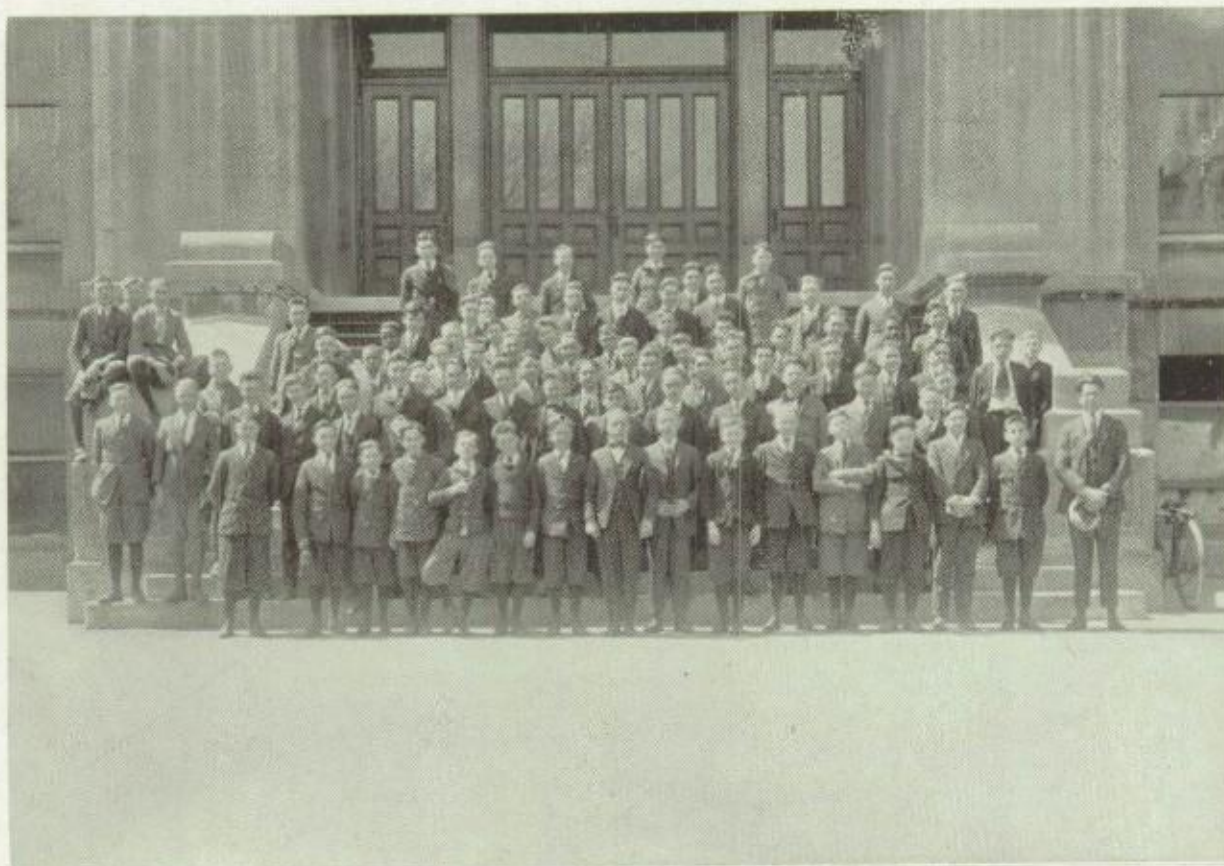

This enthusiastic class has an enrollment of 445; 143 A's and 392 B's.

The class of '21½ claims the only boy on the debating team this year.

Not much can be said of the freshman class as it is unorganized and, therefore, has no class activities. There are 175 beginning freshmen and 565 advanced freshmen, making a total of 740. Though we have no chance to see what they are capable of doing, the class promises to have a great deal of life in it.

Organizations

The Student Council

THE STUDENT COUNCIL is an organization of representatives from each of the four classes in W. H. S. The purpose of this organization is to enable the students to have a representative government. Twelve members, six girls and six boys, are elected from each class to form this Council.

The Council was organized in W. H. S. in 1912 with Kenneth Cassidy as president. That year it did away with class scraps which were dangerous and which aroused enmity between classes. A field day was established to take the place of class scraps, but which would still give the classes a chance to show what they could do. This field day has been one of the biggest events during the school year ever since it was established. Other schools are becoming very much interested in this activity, and several high schools are following our lead.

Since its organization, the Student Council has made it possible for the students to govern themselves. Some of the most important laws which have been made toward this end are laws regarding clubs and societies as official organizations in W. H. S. Club Charters must be submitted to the Council to be ratified. The Council sets the time for class parties, has established the proctor system and tried to settle the matter of recognition for athletes, members of musical organization, debaters, newspaper editors and orators. The ruling has been made that in any class if any pupil should demand the study period, the teacher should be compelled to comply with this right of the pupil.

The Student Council has established another thing in W. H. S. that is being watched by other schools. This is the moving picture shows which are given in the auditorium every Friday afternoon, Friday night and Saturday afternoon. Although some of the best pictures are shown, the price of admission is only five cents Friday and two cents Saturday afternoon. The Saturday show is given primarily for the grade school children.

Other questions of vital importance in school life are brought before the Council for settlement. Such an organization encourages student responsibility which in turn leads to democracy and efficiency.

The Proctors

THE PROCTOR SYSTEM is one of the most notable results of the Student Council's efforts to promote self-government in W. H. S. The proctors are students chosen because of their reliability, and they are stationed at different places over the building and grounds during the lunch periods. They try to keep order among the students and also try to keep the ground clean.

The system was established four years ago in W. H. S. This is the only school in Kansas and in fact the only one west of the Mississippi which has the system. Other schools are watching this movement with interest. A Student Council member is appointed to see that the proctors do their duty. This year Pauline Welwood and Dorothy Schollenberger have served in this office.

The students are usually ready to take the suggestions of the proctors and observe the school rulings.

Moving Picture Committee

THE MOVING picture show committee is a new addition to W.H.S. The committee was appointed to take charge of securing pictures, handling funds and anything else in connection with the picture show. The shows are under the auspices of the Student Council.

Paramount pictures featuring Mary Pickford, Jack Pickford, Marguerite Clark, and Wm. S. Hart have been secured. The attendance has been good at every show this year and an average of five dollars has been made above expenses every Friday. The Saturday afternoon shows are attended by about eight hundred children. It is expected that big profits will be made next year.

Mr. Truesdell, Henry Brunk, Orville Pryor and Robert Campbell have run the machine in the booth.

The committee was appointed from the Student Council. It consisted of Nestor Moore, chairman; Lloyd Ferrell, Robert Ferrell, James Burton, Delno Graham, Arthur Wolfe, Warren Haas, Robert W. Campbell, Robert S. Campbell, DeVaughn Francis, Paul Atchinson, Wesley Hansen, Eldon Means, Donald Fisher, Edgar Bissantz and Preston Leslie.

The Journalistic Class

THE ANNUAL and WICHITAN-MESSENGER Staff this year has been one of the best and undoubtedly the busiest staff that ever put out a paper in W. H. S. The staff consists of the senior English class in journalistic writing. It is rather small, having in both the editorial and reportorial staffs only twenty-three the first semester and nineteen the last.

The WICHITAN-MESSENGER is the weekly school paper. It is a combination of the WICHITAN, which has formerly been the weekly publication, and the MESSENGER, which has heretofore been published every six weeks of the school year for twenty-four years. The combination was made this year. The WICHITAN-MESSENGER is published weekly with a special magazine edition every month.

The same staff with some slight reorganization put out the '19 annual. It was the aim of the staff to have more snaps and more write-ups of school life in the annual than there have been before. Despite the "flu" quarantines, the few social activities, and the war prices of material, the '19 annual is larger than last year's annual.

Special mention should be made of the business manager, Doyle Cuthbertson, '20½. This is one of the few cases of an underclassman being a member of the staff. It was found that the boys in the journalistic class were so busily engaged in other school activities that they did not have the necessary time to devote to this part of the newspaper work. The seniors are very proud of the work that Doyle has accomplished.

The Atheod Club

THE ATHEOD club was organized five years ago. It was originally a freshman English class which formed a club for mutual profit and pleasure. The club name, "Atheod" is a combination of the name of the Greek goddess of wisdom, Athena, and the Greek hero, Odysseus, Athe-od. The club flower, the asphodel, is a mythical flower which was supposed by the Greeks to grow in Hades. The colors are purple and white, symbols of royalty and purity.

The Atheod meetings are always very original and interesting. It is one of the most wide awake clubs in W. H. S. and its meetings are demonstrations of its "pep." The planting of the Atheod bean is an annual event. It is also the custom of the society to give a play in assembly every year. The social events of the Atheod Club are numerous and very enjoyable.

Carolus Club

THE CAROLUS CLUB was organized several years ago by an English III Class. It has grown since that time until now it is one of the best clubs in the Wichita High School.

The club has given several very interesting open meetings in which its dramatic ability was shown. Its other activities have been regular meetings, hikes, parties, weiner roasts and picnics. The club has a fifty dollar Liberty Bond which was purchased last year.

The symbol of the Carolus Club is a tiny owl on a log of pure gold.

The Philomelian Society

IN 1915 AN ENGLISH class composed of twenty people from the '18½ class organized a literary society for the purpose of "making possible an exchange of ideas; improving the expression of ideas in both written and spoken English; giving drill in parliamentary law, and developing social relations." Since then the club has grown to include members of every class. Any student maintaining the standard grade set by the Student Council and securing the recommendation of an English teacher may become a member, but the membership is limited to 40.

The club meetings are both interesting and instructive. Part of the programs this year consisted of the study of the modern drama, dramatists and actors. Some of the shorter plays were studied in detail.

The name "Philomelian" means "better friends," and good fellowship is one of the things the club stands for; another is a better school and better students. "Pep" and enthusiasm for school activities are second nature for a Philomelian. The club pin is an old English crest bearing the letters "P. L. S." Above the letters is a torch.

The Pythagorean Club

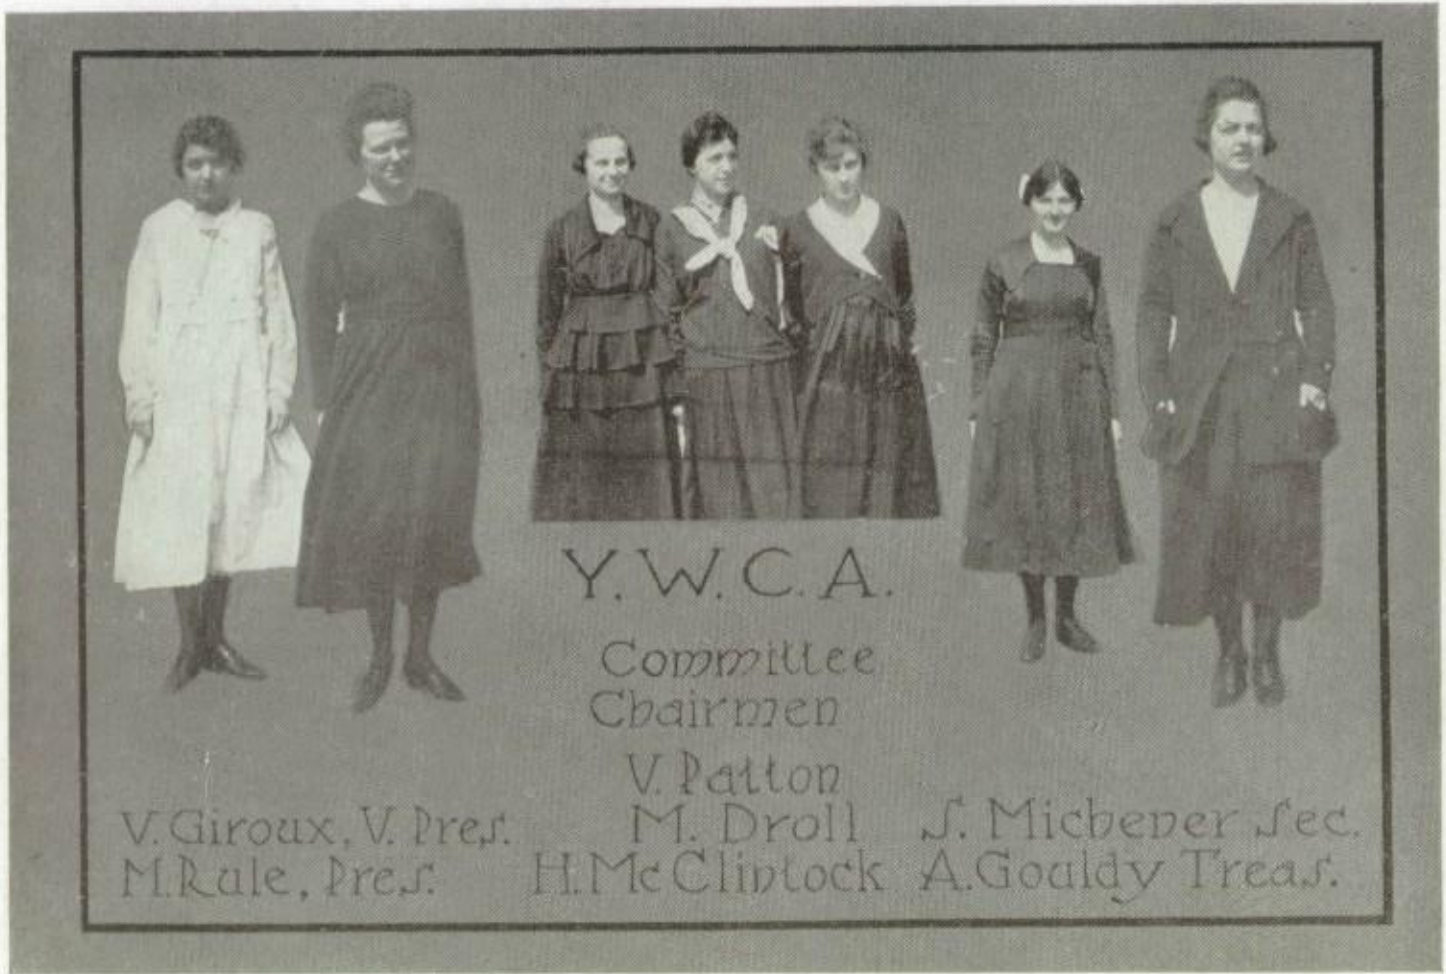

THE PYTHAGOREAN club was organized last year, and already it has made a name for itself. Those eligible to this club are students who have had five semesters of mathematics or who have had four and are taking the fifth at the time of joining.

The club started with only twelve members, but this year it has twenty-four. It is really not the quantity but the quality of members that counts in this club. Wide-awake people who consider mathematics worth while are desirable members.

The club has been studying the history of mathematical puzzles. Another purpose of the club is to give students, who are interested in the subject, a chance to become better acquainted with each other and really to enjoy high school life.

Y. W. C. A. Club

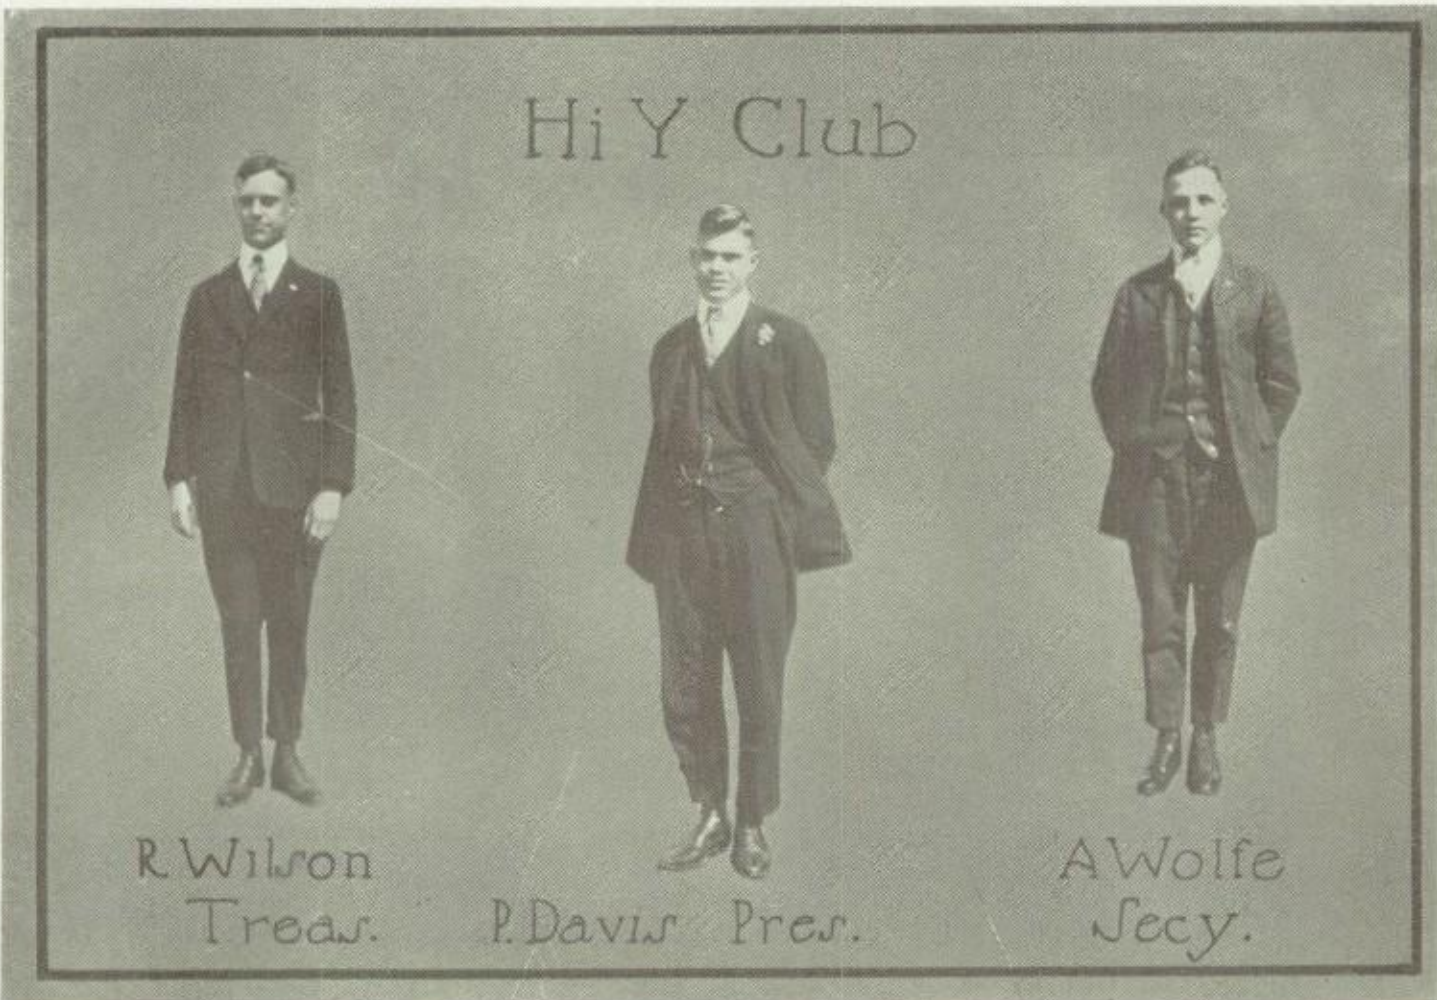

TO CREATE and maintain high standards and promote a spirit of Christian friendliness among the girls of our high school, to awaken our social conscience, and to lead girls to loyalty to Jesus Christ and His church”—is the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. Club.

This club was organized in W. H. S. in 1916 by Miss Butler, who was the student secretary for the national board. It has been one of the live wires in high school and has certainly been a help to every girl.

Every year the club furnishes the supplies for the rest room. It also conducts a “book store” for the purpose of helping students secure the books they need at a reasonable price and to aid the club financially. A commission of five cents is charged on each book sold. The “big sister” movement has been one of its activities. Any girl in school may be a member by making application and paying fifty cents a year.

Hi-Y Club

THE BOYS' "Hi Y" Club is one of the oldest organizations in W. H. S. Its purpose is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character," and to raise the moral standard of high school boys.

The club membership is one hundred and fifty. The meetings are held every Wednesday evening at 6:15 at the Y. M. C. A. Each boy pays fifteen cents for his supper and after supper there is always a helpful and interesting program. At these meetings the boys have heard some of the best speakers in the state. The other activities of the club are numerous and varied.

In the early spring the boys decided that one way to extend Christian character throughout the community and to raise the moral standard of high school boys was to take some action on the question of selling cigarettes to minors. With the efficient aid of Mr. Parks and Mr. Woodin a campaign was conducted with the result that about thirty-five dealers were prosecuted and convicted. A permanent anti-cigarette committee exists in the club. It intends to see that the law is enforced and to keep after the violators.

The Commercial Efficiency Club

THE COMMERCIAL Efficiency Club was organized last year—therefore, is one of the newest clubs in W. H. S. The aim of the organization is to “promote efficiency and business-like atmosphere in the commercial department” so that when students leave the department to go to work they may feel some of the dignity required of them.

This club has established an employment agency. The duty of this agency is to supply positions for students in school and also to those who are graduated. Business men have been very well satisfied with students from the commercial department, as only competent people are sent into the offices.

After a member of the club is graduated from school, he is still considered a member. A committee keeps in touch with the graduates and gives them notice of the meetings of the club.

The requirements for membership are typewriting, shorthand, Bookkeeping IV, special commercial law, business English, salesmanship and commercial geography.

Musical History of W. H. S.

IN LOOKING for a finished product one sometimes forgets the initial steps that were necessary to make such a product. Wichita High School's musical organizations rank as high as any in the state, but this high standing was not obtained in a day or with little work.

The W. H. S. Chorus was organized in 1893 and made its first appearance on the 1894 commencement program. This chorus earned the money to buy all the music by giving concerts. In 1895 it went to Hutchinson and received a reward of merit. The same year the orchestra and Mandolin Club were formed. The orchestra made its first public appearance shortly after its organization. In 1896 the Mandolin Club gave a few numbers on a program given by the orchestra, Chorus A, and Male Quartette, that same year. In 1898 the Chorus A presented "The Holy City" and again a prize was brought home from Hutchinson. The three organizations together presented the opera, "Joan of Arc." Since that time it has been customary for the musical organizations to give an opera or a concert each year.

The early graduating classes of W. H. S. presented operas which took the place of the present day senior class play. The operas were usually under the able direction of Miss Clark. During those years the commencement exercises consisted of orations written and delivered by the graduating members. The musical organizations always had a place on the programs, too. Altho that plan is used no more, the orchestra has always played the accompaniments for the senior songs, and has also played at every class play.

In 1903 a Boys' Glee Club and Girls' Glee Club were formed. The band was organized in 1913, and one concert was given. The band has always put spirit into our assemblies and into the crowd and players at the football and basket-ball games. Through the thoughtfulness of Miss Clark and Mr. Lofty, an Artists' Series was brought to W. H. S. in 1917. This has been continued the past two years, and the artists who came this year were especially pleasing.

The Treble Clef Club was organized in 1918 for sophomore, junior, and senior girls. This club, tho young, has been a decided success. It gave a very delightful program this year with the aid of the orchestra. The other successful programs given by the musical clubs this year consisted of "The Bohemian Girl" presented by the Choral Club, and a concert given by the Girls' Glee Club. Music is a success in W. H. S., and it is due to the faithful work of Miss Clark and to the coöperating spirit shown by the faculty and student body.

Senior Class Play

THE FOUR ACT romantic comedy—"Mice and Men," was presented by the Senior class Monday and Tuesday, March 3 and 4. The play was written by Madeleine Ryley, and was first presented by Forbes-Robertson and his company in 1902 at the Lyric Theater in New York.

"Mice and Men" is the story of a middle-aged philosopher who was once crossed in love but, who has at length, decided it is his duty to marry. In a calculating way he decides to select from the lower class some healthy and very young girl who, after she has been educated for a certain number of years according to an ideal system, will be in a position to marry him. He, after a lapse of years, realizes that he loves his intended bride madly and devotedly. At last he makes his proposal to her, but makes it so delicately that she imagines that he is asking her to marry his scapegrace nephew, the young and joyous soldier, who is her ideal, even as she is his. The end is foreseen—the middle-aged doctrinaire, faltering slowly down the garden path, opening the wicket gate and turning before he utterly effaces himself, smiles almost happily towards the house—the house that was to have been his and hers—into which his ward and the young captain have just disappeared, and from which is softly wafted the strains of "My Love is Like a Red, Red Rose." The cast of characters was as follows:

The following were the extra people in the ball room scene: Gwendoline Workman, Ruthalia Jackson, Nina Showalter, Ellice Seelye, Maurita Davis, Valma Leipp, Marion Hannum, Paul Greenamyre, Frank Deam, Horace Royer, Colin Stables, Murray Brierly, DeVaughn Francis.

Our Debaters

WE SHOULD be very proud of our debaters this year. We do not hear so very much about the debating team until the time for the first debates arrive. Nevertheless, the debaters deserve our praise. Since the beginning of the school year they have been working earnestly on the debate question. The work of preparation is very hard and the drudgery of drill is very fatiguing.

The question was: "Resolved, That Labor and Capital should be compelled to settle their disputes in legally established courts of arbitration."

At the first debate, the Wichita team composed of Mirzanell Evans, Gertrude Elrick, and Ella Andrews-Sharp upheld the affirmative side of the question at Wichita Friday, March 28, against Winfield, losing by a two to one vote. On the same evening the negative team composed of James Jones, Beatrice Bodecker, and Gertrude Parrish debated at Wellington. The decision was two to one in Wellington's favor.

James Jones, who is the only boy on the team, is the first student in the history of debating in W. H. S. to make the debating team in the freshman year. Although he is a sophomore B now, he was a freshman when the tryout was held. Beatrice Bodecker is the fourth sophomore to make the debating team. The other four debaters are seniors.

The capable manner of handling the question was a result of hard work and deep thinking on the part of the members of the team. Coach Loevenguth worked unceasingly with both the negative and the affirmative, aiding them in every possible way to make their arguments strong and effective.

By MATTIE POCOCK, '20

Lift high our colors white and blue!
They never know defeat.
Our banner calls for service true,
And never to retreat.
So here we go, a loyal band,
With courage and with strength we'll stand.

CHORUS:

To our dear school we're always true,
Like soldiers to their country.
We'll win to-day for the White and Blue
For we fight for victory.

Our school is calling you and me,
To make it always best.
Just see how high our standards are;
They're far above the rest.
We guard our colors Blue and White—
They mean, we win by truth and right.

Athletics

"W" Club

THE HIGH SCHOOL "W" Club was organized immediately after football season and although rather late, it soon became an active organization. At the first meeting of the club Virgil Cunliffe was elected president and Charles Roton, secretary and treasurer. The club members gave these officers the power to decide the number, quality, and price of sweater to be given to the seniors on the various athletic teams. Four sweaters were given for football and four for basket-ball.

Although the club contains only fifteen members and is not before the school very much, it is one of the most active organizations in the school.

G. A. A.

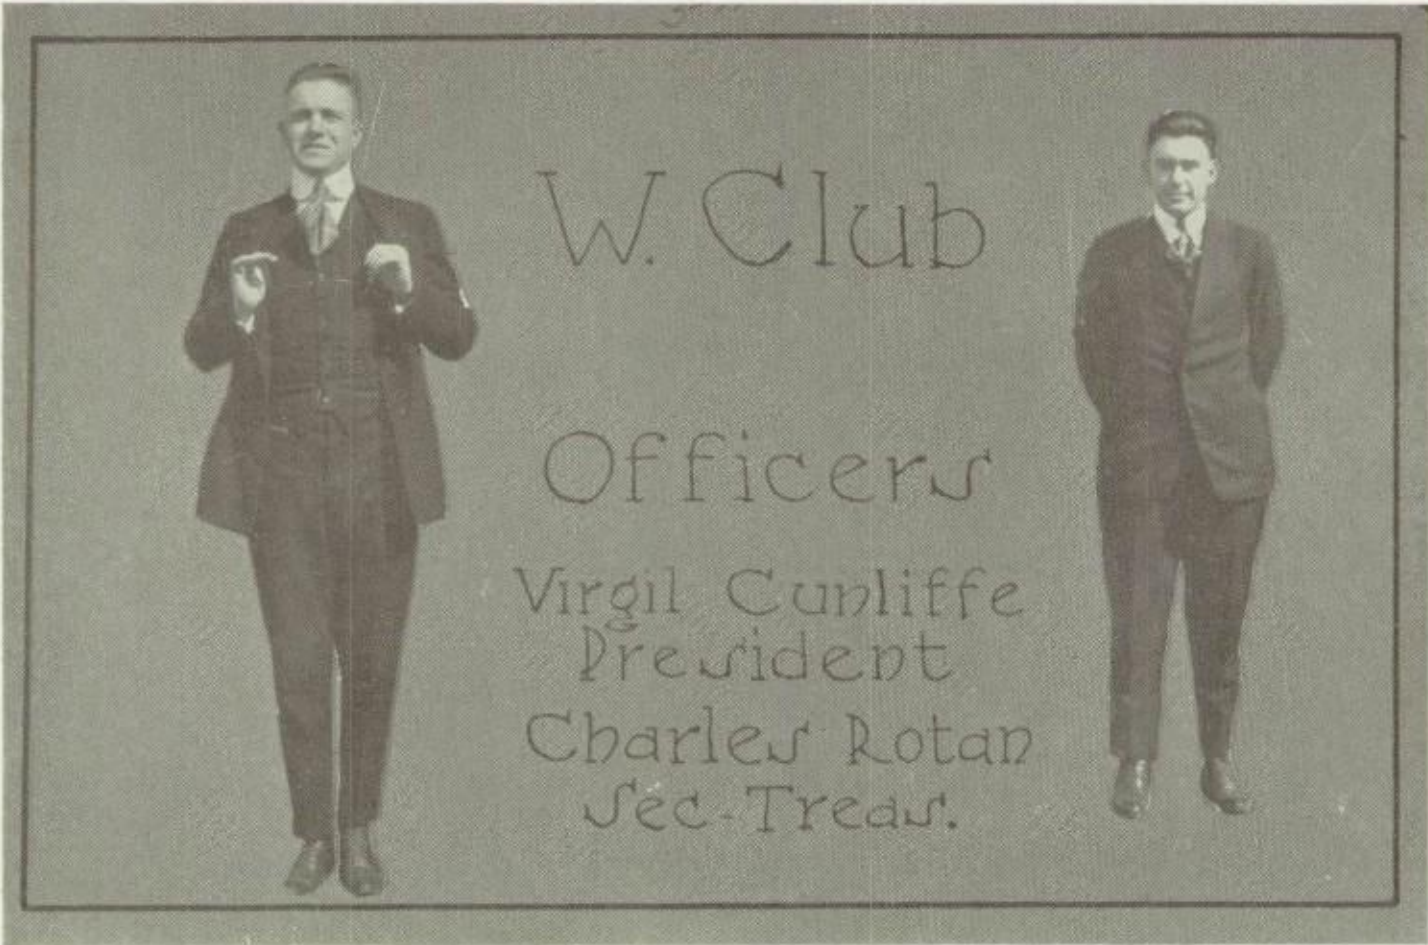

THE GIRLS' Athletic Association was organized in Nov. 1918. The purpose as stated in the constitution is to "make games and athletics a help in physical, mental, and moral efficiency among girls of the Wichita High School." That is, to give a greater number of girls an opportunity to participate in activities that strengthen the body and make them better "physically fit" and at the same time to offer wholesome recreation and pleasure; to put team games in high school on a higher basis and under such general conditions as will result in a greater skill in a game fitted to girls' strength and ability; to offer some kind of activity both for recreation and physical development within the limit of every girl in school.

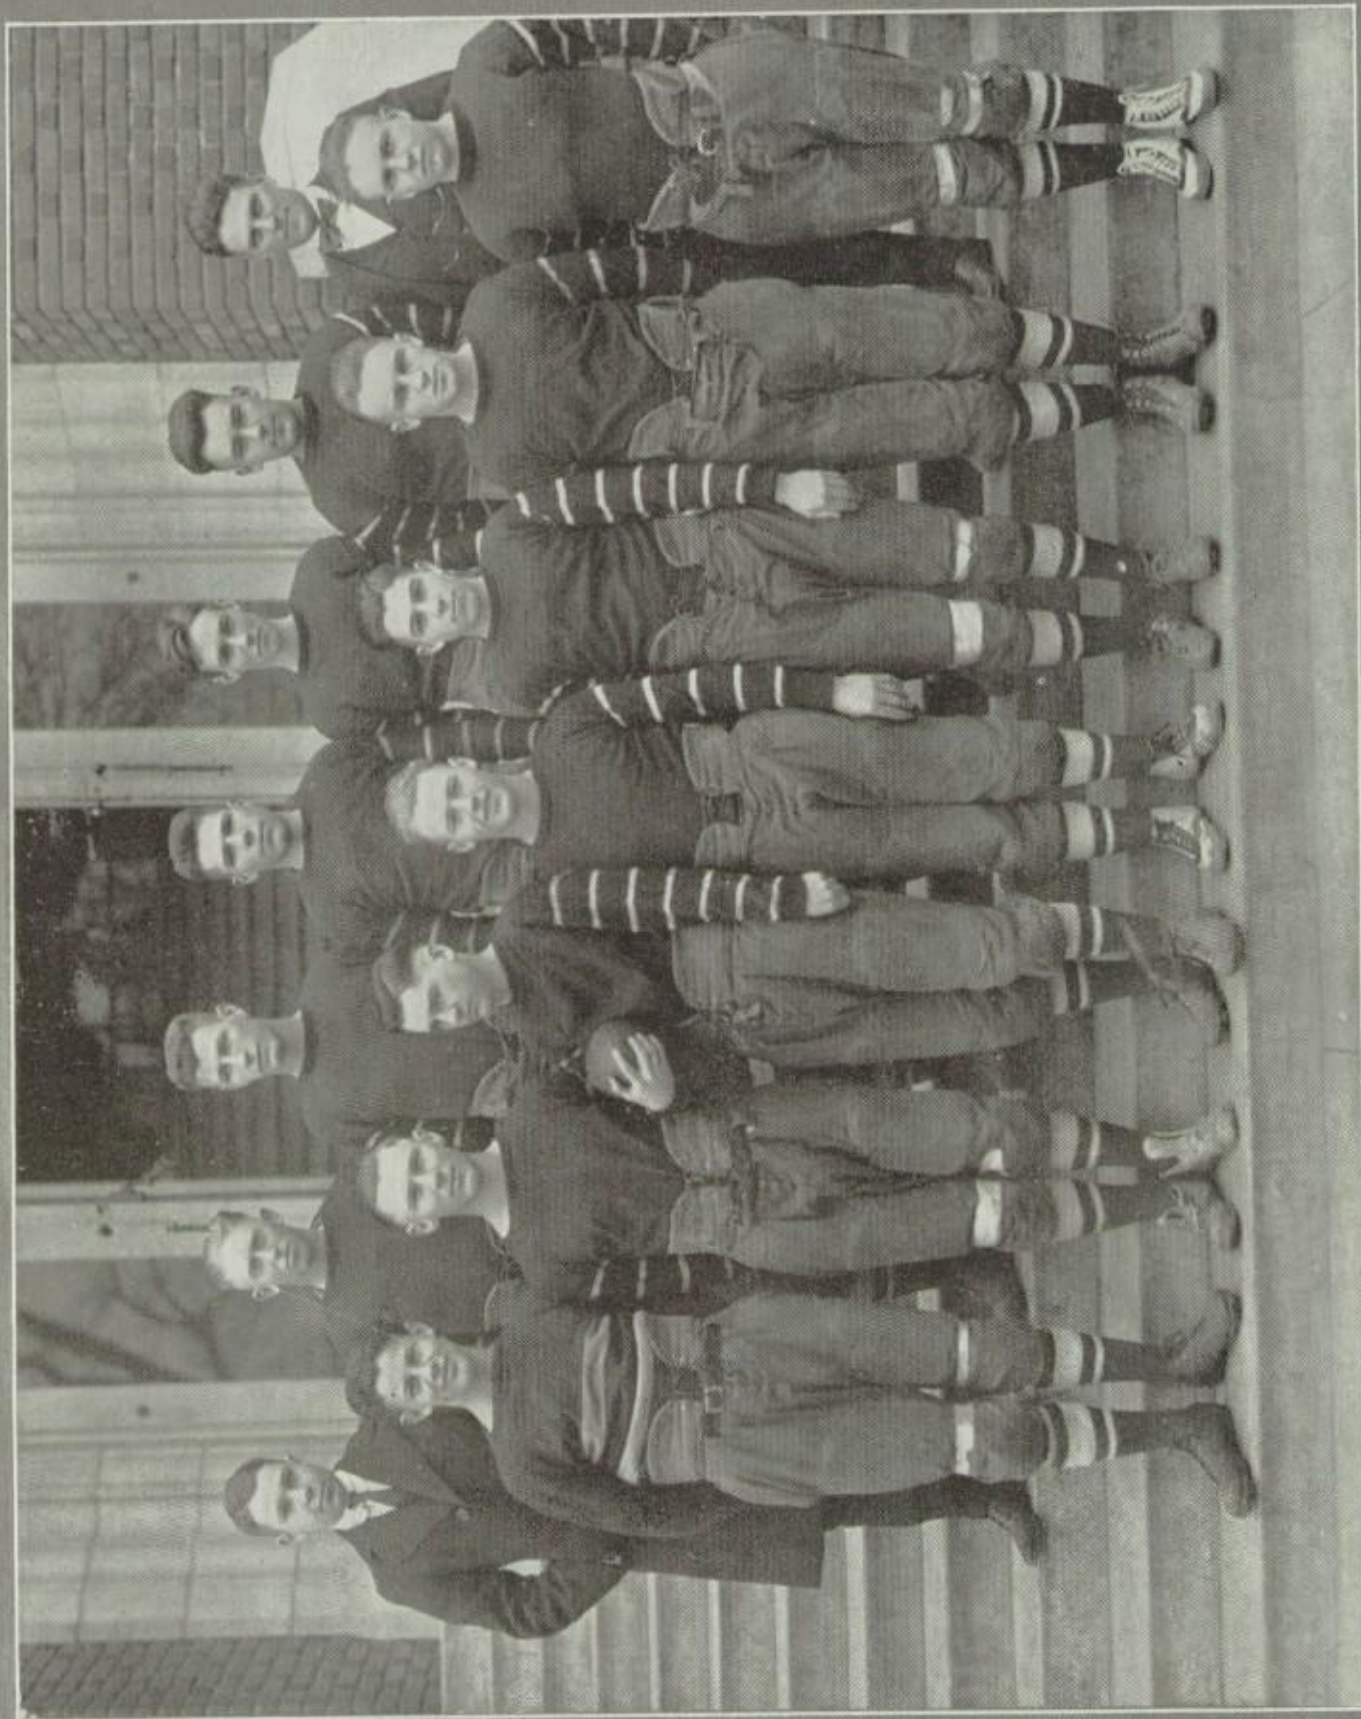

To this organization any girl in high school with an average of 80 is eligible for membership. To remain a member, however, she must make twenty-five points a year from the possible 100 offered. Activities in which points may be made follow:

1. Team games, volley-ball, basket-ball, indoor baseball, field hockey, captain ball, Newcomb. 2. Track and field athletics. 3. Aesthetic dancing. 4. Hiking. 5. Swimming. 6. Ice and Roller Skating. 7. Tennis. 8. Grade school coaching.

Meetings are held once a month. The physical directors are faculty advisers and directors, and the principal is an ex-officio member.

The officers for the year 1918-1919 were: President, Nestor Moore, '19; vice president, Mildred Rule, '19; secretary, Virginia Giroux '19; treasurer, Margaret Taggart, '21; sergeant-at-arms, Medrith Droll, '20; faculty advisers, Miss Maud Gafney and Miss Hazel Jones.

Football Season 1918

WHEN THE CALL for football was issued this year, the outlook was not the best for a good team. After losing some of the best men by the war and by graduation last year, only five veterans were left. However, these men and the others who were ready for the fray turned out and, with Coach Van Patten working hard to get a team, practice was begun just two weeks before the first game. Within those few days our fighting coach proved his worth and produced a team which could not only carry the ball, but could flop and kick it in a manner resembling that of old times.

The men chosen for the final team were: Captains Baker and Cochran, Unger, Hefke, Wheeler, Shacklett, Holleicke, Deam, Roton, Kice, Harrington, McMullen, Kosmak, Thompson, and Leu.

The first game was played before the local people and was staged on the "Sandburr Patch," otherwise known as Island Park. Although the local team fought well, it was crippled by the loss of Unger, and so went down to defeat at the hands of Sterling by a score of 17-6. Six days later the "fighting eleven" journeyed to Manhattan and, with a full team, defeated the team of the college town by a score of 12-0. Everyone was anxiously waiting for the game with Wellington, but fate had other things in store for the boys and so placed a "flu" quarantine on Wichita which prevented not only that game but also all football practice. Enid, Salina and Newton games also fell at the hands of the "flu." Then the Wichita warriors began again to prepare to meet the boys of the "Salt City." On November 15, the team invaded the Enid territory but was swamped in a 28-0 score owing to the fact that the team was crippled by the loss of our captain and chief end. However the W. H. S. men were not to be daunted and on the following Tuesday they swamped Viola, our old rival, by a score of 18-0.

A thousand rooters collected on the scene of battle on the following Friday to watch with breathless interest the Blue and White line up defeat Emporia. The whistle blew, the ball sailed into the air, and the game was on. Back and forth across the field the line fought, and then from out the turmoil burst a blue and white figure. He crossed the line and the score stood 6-0, Wichita. The Wichitans still had the kick with them and sent the ball sailing thru the bars for another point, making the game stand Wichita 7, Emporia 0. The score stood thru three quarters and the luck left us in the lurch. The sturdy Emporia line drove the Blue and White back and succeeded in forcing the ball over for a touchdown. The score stood 7-6, Wichita, because Emporia failed to kick goal. With but three minutes left to play, the W. H. S. boys started a drive for another point but the timekeeper interfered, and the game was over. The score stood Wichita 7, Emporia 6.

Thus ended the football season for Wichita High School. The schedule could not be carried out, and no championship honors were given. Altho we haven't any extra cup this year from football, we know the boys did their best, and the Blue and White still floats high.

Basket Ball for 1919

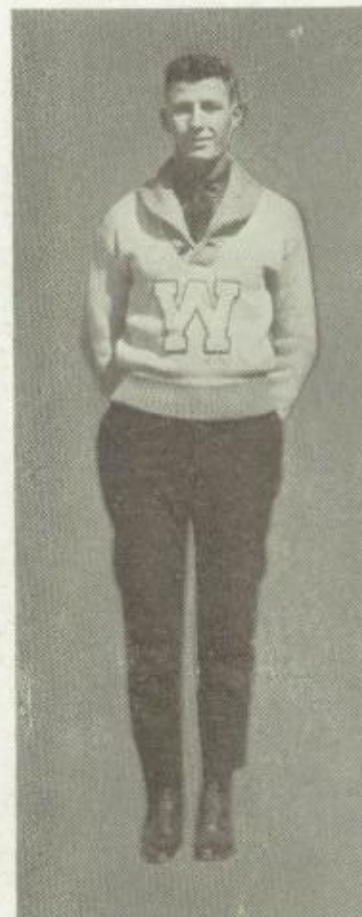

ALTHOUGH the Wichita basket-ball season had an unhappy termination this can be overlooked when one remembers that the team made one of the best records ever made by a Kansas high school. Three of the five games which were lost, were played with the state champions, Winfield.

The schedule for this year's team was the hardest that any high school in Kansas ever had. On the most trying trip, the team was successful in all of the games by defeating Iola, Ft. Scott, Parsons and Kansas Cit. Kansas City was defeated twice by the Wichita boys by a great majority.

Three members of the team, Holleicke, Kefke and Shacklett, received honorable mention for the all-state aggregation.

Wheeler, Unger and Weidenbach played good games at forward. Bill Ware, center, was a good offensive man, and was fast becoming a good defensive, when he was taken out of the remaining games because of injury. The team as a whole was great and well deserved all of the support the students gave. The team was well supported at its hardest games. Several car loads of rooters went to Hutchinson, Newton and Winfield. This was the best out-of-town support the team has had for years, and the basket-ball boys wish to thank the students for their help.

This year Wichita loses only one man, Holleicke, and the other teams of the state want to lie low next year when the Blue and White comes on the court. The boys will make up for their few losses—and bring more glory to the school.

The Girls' Athletic Ass'n

THE FIRST meeting of the Girls' Athletic Association was held on Nov. 10, 1918. Miss Gafney, physical director, told the girls what such an organization might stand for and might accomplish along the lines of pleasure and physical development. At the next meeting officers were elected, Constitution and Activities Committees were appointed to draft a constitution, and to decide upon what activities could be offered to the girls of Wichita High School. The members of the Constitution committee were: Romaine Eckstein, chairman; Ellice Seelye, Grace Baird, Dorothy Noble and Norma Sharp, and the members of the activities committee were: Dorothy Schollenberger, chairman; Verda Jacques, Lela Roll, Nannie Sue Davis, Dolly Holleicke, and Garnet Arbogast. Reports were soon made and adopted and the organization of the Girls' Athletic Association was complete.

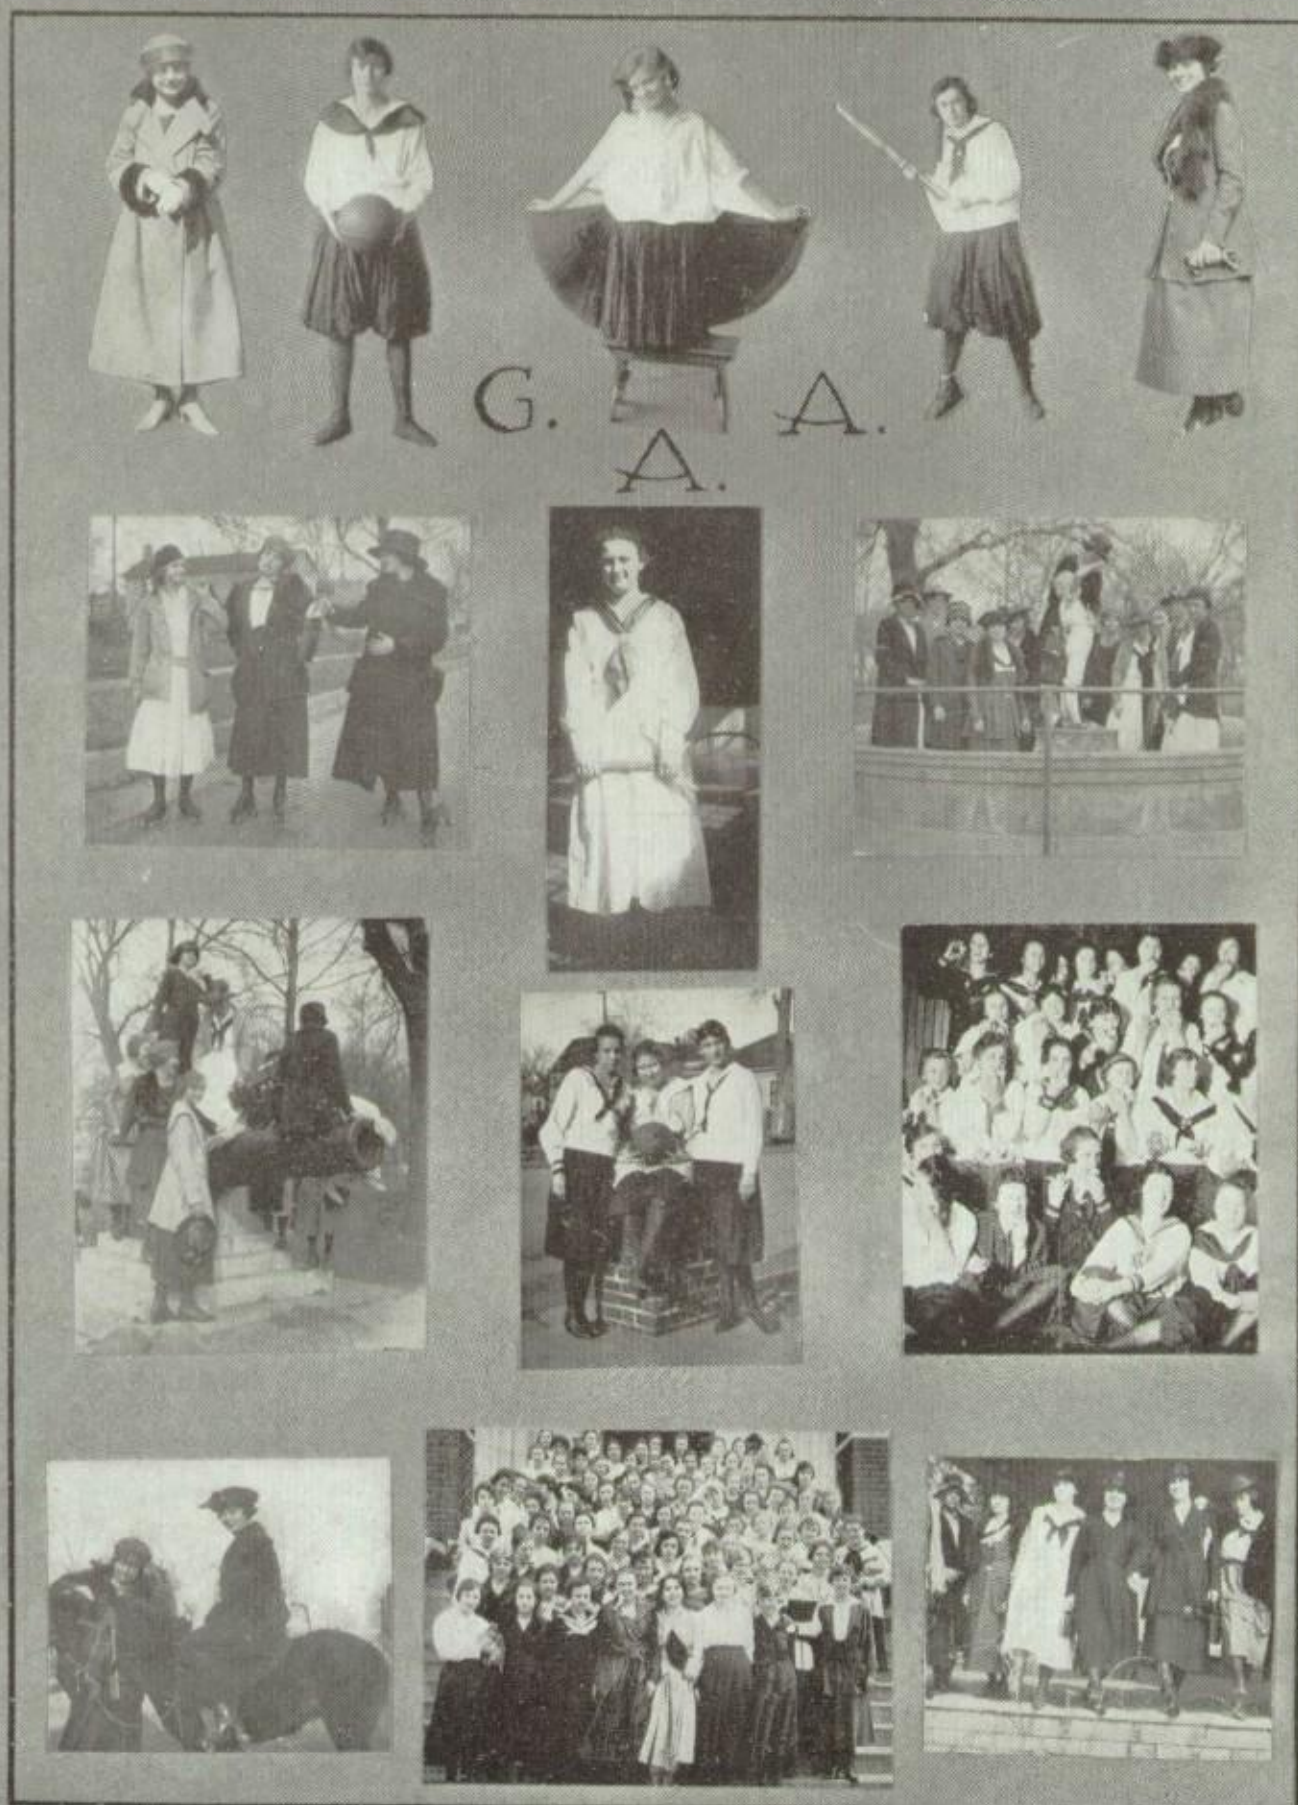

The activities offered to members of the association and points accredited therefore, as adopted by the association from the report of the committee, are as follows:

Team Games: 10 points for the first team of the year of which one is a member, and 5 points for each additional team on which one plays. Track and field athletics: a limit of 15 points to be made by volley-ball serving, basket-ball goal throwing, basket-ball distance throw, baseball throwing, simple relay, broad jump, balancing, dancing five fundamental steps. Aesthetic Dancing in public, 5 points; hiking, 2 points for each three mile hike and one point for each additional mile, limit of 15 points. Swimming: learning to swim, 10 points; learning to dive, 3 points; going in swimming, 1 point for every five times; limit 15 points. Ice and roller Skating: learning to skate, 5 points; one point for each roller skating trip. Tennis, 5 points. Grade School coaching, 5 points a semester for coaching.

Interclass volley-ball games were scheduled and many a girl came to realize that she could not participate in team games unless she was a member of the G. A. A. and fulfilled the standard set by that club. The senior team clashed with the junior team, the seniors being victorious. The freshman met the sophomore team and easily won. The senior sophomore game was another easy victory for the seniors as was also the freshman-junior game for the freshmen. The final game of the series approached with the seniors as well as the freshmen with two victories and no defeats. Here was the most skillful game, and the seniors were surprised to lose the game to the freshmen, which gave the championship in volley-ball to the latter class.

The Y. W. C. A., Wichita, Arkansas City High School and the Newton High School teams were challenged for games, but the challenges were not accepted. Picked teams from the senior-sophomore players matched a picked team from the junior-freshman players at the Forum. The junior-freshman team carried away the honors.

Interclass basket-ball games were scheduled for March 24, 25, 26. The senior-junior game was won by the seniors. The freshman-sophomore game was won by the sophomores. The senior-sophomore game was a close one and ended with a score 19 to 16 in favor of the sophomores. The senior-sophomore teams had to have an additional game to play off the tie for championship. This was won by sophomores. Credits are rapidly being made by the girls, and many bid fair to come up to the high standard, while many more will carry on the work next year.

With open mouth babe Virgie coos,
Just like all babies do.
His mouth in speech is opened yet,
In fact, he ne'er gets thru.

Here in his baby picture, folks,
He's saying this, I ween,
"I'll be the pres'dent of my class
The year nineteen nineteen."

With bashful and with questioning glance
Pauline sat for this pose.
She wondered if the picture man
Was 'mong her friends or foes.

She still commands a questioning look,
With bashful ways she's thru,
She always wants to know for sure
If what she thinks is true.

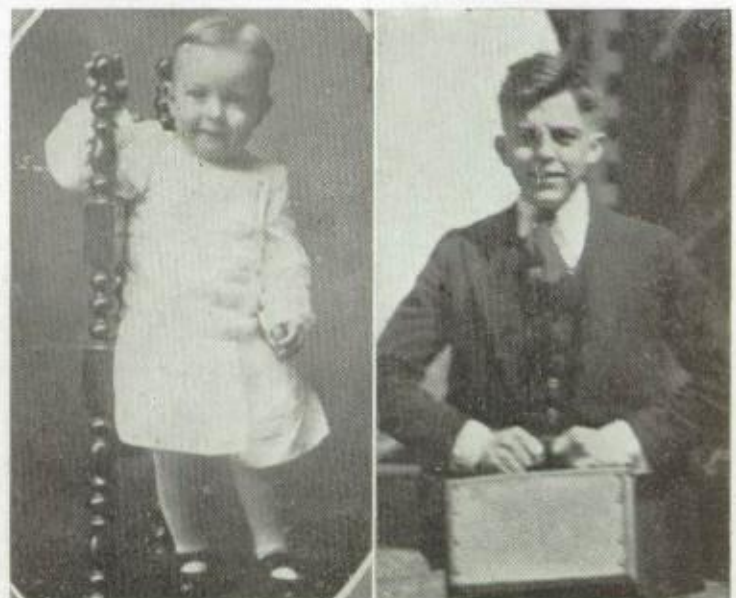

Upon a table Ruth did step
A little speech to make
'Twas 'Votes for women' that she cried
"We want our votes to take."

The other day I heard her say
"I'm strong for women's rights.
The women ought to have their vote
Without such fuss and fights."

Against a chair Max had to lean,
He could not stand alone.
When now he speaks he needs support,
Just why, it is not known.

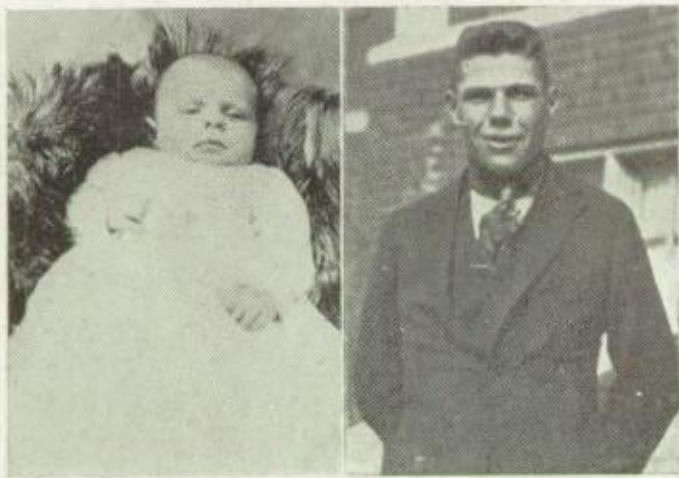

But when he starts to make a talk,
He on his pockets leans.
Then he can speil for 'most an hour,
And say just what he means.

The Michitan

Upon a sofa Margaret sits
Ready to entertain.
Whoever'll come and see her now
And for a while remain.

And Margaret still can entertain
Her guests who come to call
By sitting in her parlor there
And smiling on them all.

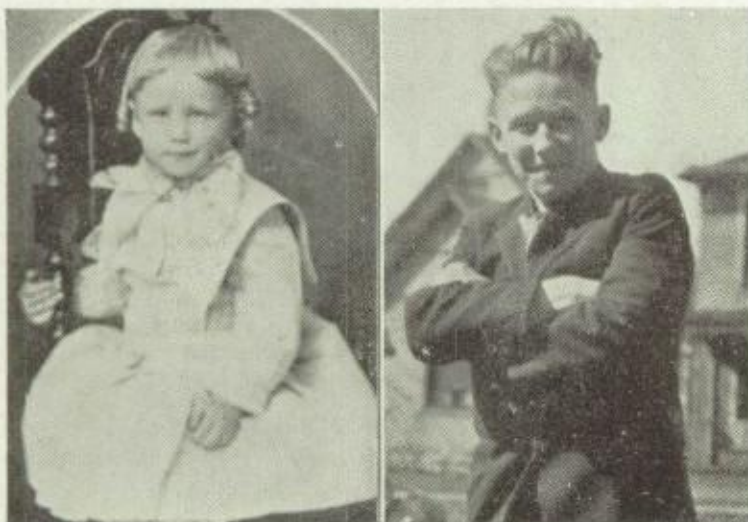

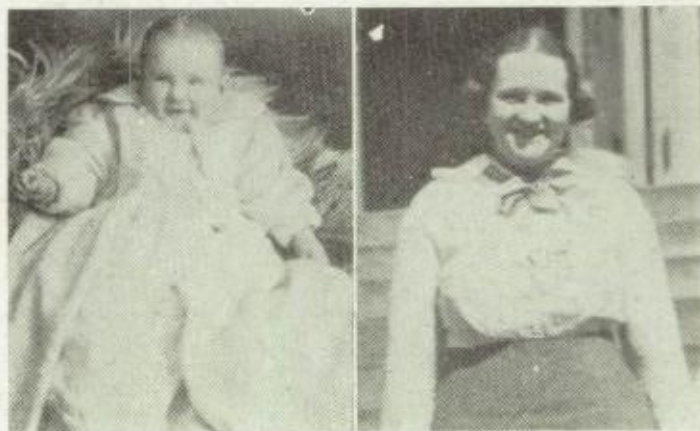

Bill braced himself all fine and strong
And said "Let come what may,
I'm ready now to take my part,
And fight to have my way."

And now Bill fights with all his might
Upon both court and field,
When he fights for W. H. S.
The en'my has to yield.

You'll see by Baby Esther's smile
How good natured she was,
She smiles as sweet and winsomely
As any grown-up does.

Her smile so sweet she still retains,
In fact, she's always jolly;
She has a way we can't explain
Of chasing gloom with folly.

Howard sits up in a straight-back chair
His hair is all in curl.
He yells "Come! Mama, take me down"
Just like a baby girl.

He now can make the seniors yell
With "peppy" shouts, I say,
"Some day he'll be an auctioneer."
No doubt but what he may.

What Clothes Can Do

It was Friday, known in the annals of Wichita High School as "Rube Day." After the most notorious assembly, a crowd of girls and boys dressed in gorgeous array, had betaken themselves to see Fatty Arbuckle at the Palace, thus hoping to forget some of the cares of life.

The other spectators present were duly shocked to see the marked degree of affection that existed between one certain couple. There was no reserve whatsoever in the way in which they expressed their affection for each other, and embraces were fast and furious. Finally, one of the girls quietly reached over and helped her fellow sister off with her hat. Lo! the charming black curls came with it revealing the manly "dome" of Colin Stables. Every one heaved a sigh of relief and Fatty gave an extra laugh.

A Modern Cinderella

Once upon a time a senior of the good old class of 1919 was struggling with a most prodigious pile of monstrously dirty dishes. Suddenly she was rudely awakened from her deep meditation by the clanging of the door-bell. Hastily wiping her hands on her apron she rushed madly to the scene of action.

Throwing open the means of exit what should meet her astonished gaze but the manly mugs of P. Leslie and his chaperon, J. Burton. Without waiting for explanations J. Burton clapped her hat on her head while P. Leslie conveyed her to the waiting chariot. Jumping the corners at breakneck speed, they soon sighted the two unlighted lamps in front of W. H. S. and a second later were well on their way to 400. Here Pauline Welwood was told that she was to participate in the rehearsal of the first cast. Thus was the leading lady of the class play escorted from among the pots and pans to the footlights of the stage.

All in a Stage Career

"Watch out! Here he comes," was the chorus of exclamations given during the first act of "Mice and Men" on Tuesday night, March 4. Stage hands, director, actors, actresses and Marion Hannum suddenly took to their heels in order to make wagon room for the fast approaching "Mr. Goodlake" (Virgil Cunliffe). Poor "Rodger" dropped himself into a chair with mouth open and head to one side, while water was poured down his throat by the bucket fulls, and Max Buckingham, thinking he was present at a basket-ball game, began to work Mr. Goodlake's arms and legs to the tune of "My Love is Like a Red, Red Rose."

Finally the sufferer regained enough strength to give Mr. Buckingham a powerful kick landing him in the center of the most precious flower garden used in the fourth scene. With his moustache awry, and face paint rather "smeary," Mr. Goodlake declared with vim, "That Stogey nearly did me up in there. Good-bye, folks, I'm through," and he handed the remaining cigars to Mr. Gossett.

How Sudden!

We were seated in the hammock,
It was sometime after dark;
And the silences grew lovely
After each subdued remark;
With her head upon my shoulder,
And my arms about her close,
Soon I whispered, growing bolder,
"Do you love me, my own rose?"
Were her accents low to equal
All my heart had dared to hope?
Ah, I never knew the sequel,
For her brother cut the rope!

—BILL HOLLEICKE.

She frowned and called him Mr.
Because in fun he only Kr.
And then the awful Mr. Kr. Sr.

FAMOUS WILBUR-LESLIE CASE DECIDED BY COURT

Prosecutor Receives $25,000, or One Half of the Amount for Which Sued

Kathleen Stephens, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, to-day gave her decision in the famous Wilbur-Leslie case. Miss Wilbur is to receive $25,000 or one-half the amount she asked in her plea.

Ella Andrews-Sharp, attorney for Miss Wilbur, was delighted at the outcome. It is rumored that to-morrow she will collect $22,000 for her services.

This case has occupied a great deal of time, having been in progress some five years. The trouble between the two arose over 1,000 gallons of gas of which Miss Wilbur alleges Leslie promised her the use. After these faithful promises he basely departed for the Fiji Islands and soon became engaged to Gwendoline Workman, the queen of these islands. Miss Wilbur immediately became very indignant and sued Leslie for breach of promise, asking the court to award her $50,000 damages.

Leslie, through his attorney, Robert Fuller, fought the case bitterly, but to no avail. His case was irretrievably lost when his chauffeur, Christine Porter, swore that she had heard him make the promises Miss Wilbur accused him of.

This case has attracted such wide attention that Mabel Sheaks, owner of the Universal Film Company, has asked the prominent writer, Miss Valeria Wagner, to scenariorize the story. Miss Clara Wentworth, better known as queen of the movies, will take the part of Miss Wilbur.

Miss Edith Levit has recently accepted the professorship of Science at Harvard University.

WORK ON PACKING HOUSE IS STARTED TOMORROW

The Wonderful Fan Invention Is One of the Many New Improvements

The corner stone to the new packing house will be laid to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Verla Patton, president of the Packers' Union. Dwight Pennington, chief packer, will help Miss Patton in placing the stone. This great improvement to Wichita, the packing house will be built eight miles out on Cleveland Avenue. Florence Pocock, architect, will preside over the ceremonies.

This city has long been in need of a new packing house but the owners of the establishment, Lucille Pottle and Dorothy Power, did not seem to realize the fact. However, they were down town in an open car yesterday during the terrible storm when the wind blew from the north. To-morrow the corner stone will be laid.

Some new improvements will be introduced in this new packing house, the most helpful of which is that invented by Miss Helen Radley. A wall of electric fans will be placed south of the packing house. When the wind blows from the north, these fans will be turned on thus sending the little breezes back to Valley Center. Elizabeth Reese, patent agent for the latter place, has offered Miss Radley a voluminous sum for the patent, but Miss Radley places duty before self as she realizes what her invention means to the citizens of Wichita.

Any one wishing to donate a fan to the cause will please call Marguerita Reveley, or Caroline Rodenberg, chief fan collectors. Not more than ten fans will be accepted from one person. Every one must have a chance to participate in this great cause.

Prominent Junk Dealer Leaves This Cold World

A Magnificent Fortune Is Divided Between Help and Eckstein's Cat Asylum

Miss Ruth Schollenberger, for many years a prominent junk dealer of this city, passed away this morning at Dr. Clyde Mean's Hospital. Dr. Mean's partner, Dr. Vesta Morton and Miss Pauline Heckard, R. N., were at her bedside. Miss Schollenberger has suffered for some time from acute insomnia brought on by secret grieving for a long-lost loved one. Her last words were characteristic, as her thoughts were never far from her business responsibilities. They were, "Tell Christine not to pay more than nine cents a pound for copper." Miss Christine Fritzlin was assistant to Miss Schollenberger and the message was for her.

The will was immediately opened and read by her lawyer, Thede Jacques, and he announces that the bulk of the magnificent fortune was bequeathed to Romaine Eckstein's Cat Asylum. Small legacies are to be paid to her secretary, Miss Velma Leipp, and cook, Floy Bales. Her banker, Aylesworth Chapman, was named executor.

Funeral arrangements are in the charge of Theodore Keiper's Undertaking establishment. The Reverend Miss Leona Kinney will officiate. The famous lyric soprano, Miss Dora Newton, will sing. Interment will be made in Alexander Mooberry's "Old Favorite" Cemetery.

LABOR AGITATOR SPEAKS

At the annual banquet of the Hod Carrier's Union held last night, the president, Phillip Osborne, introduced as the speaker of the evening Max Buckingham. Mr. Buckingham is a widely known labor agitator and he spoke on "Why Work at All?" He was greeted with thunderous applause.

Noted Heart Specialist Marries His Sixth Wife

Four Matrimonial Bonds Severed by Court and One Split by Death

(By Associated Press)

Dr. Wendell Workman, the famous heart specialist, who divorced his fifth wife just three months ago, to-day married Miss Juanita Wagner who was formerly of Wichita, Kansas.

In 1921, while still in college, Dr. Workman married Elizabeth Smith. This marriage proved unhappy and Mrs. Workman soon died of a broken heart. The doctor seemed to be disgusted with all woman kind and did not marry again until the summer of 1932. The spring of this year he renewed his acquaintance with Pauline Welwood who was nursing at a local hospital. This marriage was apparently successful for a time until the doctor became infatuated with Lucille Woodard, his office girl. Pauline A. W. Workman then divorced him, and he immediately married Miss Woodard.

However, this marriage proved unsuccessful as the others and after nine months Mrs. Workman eloped with an artist, Paul Greenemeyer. Several years later while in a Chicago cabaret Dr. Workman met and married Edna Sidles. However, the life he led was not gay enough for her and so she soon left him. He then married Miss Erma Marie Wininger, whom he divorced a week later. It is hoped that his sixth or present marriage will be more successful than the former ones.

Francis-Bushnell Wedding

The wedding to-morrow at high noon of Mr. DeVaughn Francis and Miss Elizabeth Bushnell will culminate a romance that has extended over many years. They plighted their troth over eighteen years ago but Miss Bushnell, being an ardent believer in careers for women, insisted that before she settled down it was her duty to do something to make her name renowned, and departed on an exploring expedition thru the Ozarks. After she had remained away for ten years and none of her friends had received any word of her, she was given up as lost, and Mr. Francis put on mourning. Imagine his delight when three days ago Miss Bushnell stalked majestically into his afternoon dancing class and remarked in a sonorous voice, "DeVaughn, come here." It seems that Miss Bushnell had been lost all these years among the intricate mountain passes so numerous in Arkansas. She immediately announced that the wedding would take place at once.

The ceremony will be performed by the Reverend Mr. James Garberich. Miss Bushnell will wear a creation of red and blue sateen designed by Gertrude Barnabas, modiste.

Yacht Club Dance To-Night

One of the real events of the social season will take place to-night when the Yacht Club holds its annual dance. The leading business and professional men and women of the city are behind the entertainment and it is sure to be a success. Among those whose yachts will be used are Lorraine Cain, President of the Fourth National Bank, Paul Good, general manager of the Flivverplane Company, Wilkes Gudge, county attorney; Ernest Hood, president of the Ministerial Association; William Holleicke, head dressmaker at Emma Cormany's Department Store; and Bernice Chapman, jeweler.

About three hundred guests are expected and they will be carried up and down the Little River all night. Dancing will be the chief feature of the entertainment and the music will be furnished by D. Churchward's orchestra.

Mrs. Taintor, wife of Dr. Oliver Taintor, will entertain her sewing Circle next Wednesday. Miss Zelma Law, a beauty specialist of Chicago, will address the Circle on timely topics. Mrs. Taintor was formerly Miss Hyacinth Matney.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCune celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary with a dinner party last evening. Mrs. McCune was formerly Miss Ora Law.

A notable assemblage of musicians met in Boston last week to hear the largest pipe organ in the world which was played by Mme. Frances Woolard. Among other notable musicians present were: Marjorie Smith, Elnora Rutter and Norrine Williams.

Horace Royer, American Ambassador to Mexico, will be in this city to-morrow for several hours. He is enroute to his post in the city of Mexico. With him are his wife, formerly Miss Verda Jacques, and his secretary, Miss Lola Keener.

ALL ELECTRIC CAR LINES WILL BE EXTENDED

Experimental Test Will Be Made
By Members of Motor-
Women's Club

All the electric car lines will be extended three miles within two months, stated Miss Pauline Meyer, president of the Car Line Co. this morning. This has long been contemplated, but it was not definitely decided until last night's meeting of the Motorwomen's Club. Several suggestions were offered by the members and some were very practical. The old route plus the additional three miles must be made in the same time as the old route was made previously. Blanche Moore, treasurer of the club, stated that no more help could be obtained as the finances were too low owing to the large number of ice cream sodas the motorwomen have to have this hot weather.

The problem was finally settled by the brilliant president of the club, Helen Orth. She stated that it would be possible to make the new run on the same time as the old run was made if the cars stopped every half mile and rushed between half miles. This unique plan was adopted by the members of the club. Motorwomen Ruby Otti and Gertrude Parrish will make the experimental test.

HOME LIES IN ASHES

The palatial residence of Marguerite Giwosky, owner of the Gee-Whata-Candy Kitchen, was almost burned to the ground last night. A blaze of unknown origin was discovered by Myrtle Hickcox, a real estate dealer who lives nearby, and the fire department notified. Fire chieftainess, Dolly Holleicke, hastened to the scene and with the aid of her brave fire fighters soon had the blaze under control. Ethel Hockett, president of the Aetna Insurance Company, was particularly jubilant over the outcome.

Many Former Wichitans To Take Part in the Ellsworth-Orr

They soon became so wealthy that they retired to Coney Island to enjoy life, selling the circus to Cleo Ellsworth and Joe Orr, who are the present managers.

The Ellsworth-Orr Circus is large, having eight rings and three menageries besides forty-one side shows. Every one who does not see it will miss a lot. Among the best known Wichitans who are with the circus are:

Wingate Lee, head clown,
Alma Long, band master,
Charles Price, roustabout,
George Roehr, Spanish dancer,
Bessie Ruby, ice cream peddler,
Gertrude Pocock, juggler,
William Bays, head cook,

BAD BLOCKADE OCCURS AT MOSLEY AND 13TH

The Case will be Tried To-morrow
Before Police Judge M. A.
Gouldy

The traffic at 13th and Mosley was blocked for some time Wednesday, May 28, when Virgil Cunliffe, City Street Sprinkler, collided with Clarence Ross, a taxi-driver employed by Frank Deam's "Any Old Time" Taxi Company. Traffic officer, Lyda Belle Billinger, assisted by motorcycle officer, Emma Boyce, took the two reckless drivers into custody. During the turmoil, with remarkable presence of mind, Henri Busch, proprietor of the North End drug store, telephoned the police station. Patrol driver M. E. Rule came at breakneck speed and helped officers Boyce and Billinger convey Cunliffe and Ross to the station.

Their case will be tried to-morrow before Police Judge M. A. Gouldy. Cunliffe will be defended by the prominent criminal lawyer, Beatrice White, Miss Gertrude Elrick will handle the case for Miss Ross, who is temporarily under the care of Police Matron Margaret Beard.

Monthly Board Meeting Held—Teachers Chosen

The Board of Education held its monthly meeting last night. President Victor Carpenter announced that the only important business was the election of a principal for high school No. 7 and a few new teachers. Helen Andrews was chosen for the principal of the new high school. Other new teachers are

Manual training, Albert Chaney;
Domestic Science, Lyman Rynders;
Physical training, Grace McGee.

A sensation was caused early this week when Donald Boggs, stock salesman for the Gard Oil Company, announced that a gusher had been brought in on a farm owned by Valera Gilbert. Arnold Gard, president of the company, substantiated the report.

BOOK REVIEWS

One of the most popular heart histories of the year is a four volume biography of Louise Avey entitled "The Confessions of a Would-be Vamp." Miss Avey has long been an authority in affairs of the heart, but the publication of this intimate little book, full of instances of both success and failure, and giving in complete detail her well-tried methods, will certainly assure her of the place of premier importance in her chosen profession. We congratulate Miss Avey on her success. Her publisher is Delno Graham of Philadelphia.

"The Trials of a Tragedian" is the biography of the noted Shakespearian actress, Virginia Giroux, whose interpretation Juliet is praised the world over. Illustrated by Ola Haden.

"Advice to the Love-Lorn" is one of the really helpful books recently published. Madame Erma Frankenberger is the author. On sale at Graefe's Book Store.

Miss Bessie May Isreal, manager of the local baseball club, received yesterday a book of sketches done by her cousin Mary Israel, the famous illustrator.

Editor of The Democrat Returns From England

Thornton Sargent, editor of the Daily Democrat, just returned from London where he has been attending the International Editors' Convention. He took with him his interpreter, Arthur Young. Mr. Young always goes with Mr. Sargent on these trips as the former speaks so many different languages. Mr. Sargent stated that he saw Misses Beulah and Ruby Yerkes while in England. They are running a boat house on the Thames.

An exhibition of the recent paintings of the famous artist, Edith George, will be held Friday at Fairmount University. President Bertha Hosford assured the DEMOCRAT's reporter that it will be well worth seeing.

"I have used Rathman's Ready Rouge for over twenty years and no one I've ever met has failed to marvel at my ever brilliant complexion."

Anti-Suffrage Movement For Men Is Started

Believing men to be by nature inferior to women and consequently not deserving of equal rights with them, a group of well known society women met yesterday afternoon and formed an association for the purpose of abolishing the existing laws which allow full suffrage to men. The president elected was Mrs. LaVeda Davis Holt, and the vice-president Miss Constance DeLong. These women have dedicated their lives to the cause.

They will go to Washington next week to confer with Senator Ruth Devereaux Spencer and Secretary of the Interior Dorothy Dymock.

Miss Laura Eagleston and Lucile Eberhardt will start at once on a lecture tour to spread the association's propaganda.

Wichitan Wins Great Prize

The following poem was written by the famous poetess, Esther Carothers, and won her the Nobel Prize for poetry. Miss Carothers is now residing at her summer home on Long Island.

"When the sweet notes of the blue birds
waft in on the breeze,
And the blithe chirps of robins are heard,
And the grass springs up green, and the buds burst and swell,
Spring has come! Oh, sing out the glad word."

Wichian Is Great Inventor

Many Wichitans will remember as an old friend Miss Ellice Seelye, but few know that she is the now famous Madame Jules De Truc of Paris, who has astounded scientists all over the world with her marvelous invention. Miss Seelye, who married a noble Frenchman soon after leaving Wichita in 1922, has always been of a curious nature and to this trait may be attributed the perseverance she has shown in working for twenty years on her device for enabling telephone users to see the person at the other end of the line. The prominent New York manufacturer, Lloyd Spillers, will produce them in America.

The Feeble Minded Home Lets Out Another Inmate

The many friends of Miss Nestor Moore will be overjoyed to learn that she will be able to return home next Tuesday, June 2, from Winfield where she has been under the expert care of Ruth Lindley Boyd, psychologist at Dr. Irene Brown's Home for the Feeble-Minded. Hers was a sad case as it is reported she lost her mind twenty years ago while serving as chairman of the Movie Committee in the old high school. Her rapid recovery has astounded the medical world.

Lottie Waller, president of the Kansas Kindergarten Teachers' Association, will speak here this afternoon. Among those interested in her work and who will hear her speak are: Mae Wemple, Florence Wentz, Mildred Tucker and Opal Wilhoite. The above are teachers in the local kindergartens here and are working out a new idea of kindergarten management which was originated by Miss Wentz.

Getting Excused

When I went to the office for my excuse, every one was busy and the students swarmed in and out like bees.

I was in a hurry and went straight up to Mrs. Quackenbush with my request, but she directed me to Miss Davis.

I leaned against Miss Davis' desk and smelled her roses as impressively as I could, hoping to get her attention that way. She placidly pursued her investigations of the card index.

I ventured to interrupt and was coldly sent to Mr. Lofty. A line had formed outside his door, and so I added myself to it. Some half hour later I got close enough to him to make known my need only to be informed that he was too busy to write out excuses, but that no doubt Mr. Truesdell could do it for me.

I wormed my way thru the crowd to the other end of the office and into Mr. Truesdell's private office, finding him running the L. C. Smith fast and furiously.

When he finished his letter, he handed it to me to read and comment on since it was about the available Paramount releases in which every W. H. S. student should be duly interested. At last I summoned my courage to interrupt his monologue on Mary Pickford and travelogues (with a mixture of illustrations about his car) and he wrote me an excuse between anecdotes of his family and their friends. Truly, getting excused is a wearisome task.

Lunch Hour

Ting-a-ling!

All unlooked for (of course) the lunch bell rings at 11:50. We leisurely rise and walk sedately to the lunchroom where with no delay whatever, a beautifully appointed luncheon is served.

After we have eaten our fill (or as much as politeness and our pocketbooks allow us) we remove ourselves to the assembly room where is given each day a cabaret entertainment. The performers kindly donate their services. There is always music (usually consisting of such "highbrow stuff" as "Smiles" or "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry" and dancing. The musicians are usually such celebrated ones as Frances Eaton, Vivian Hartzell, Irene Tong, or Madeline Stout.

Of course there are many, many couples who dance, between courses of candy, cookies and ice cream cones. Park is always there, and Margaret, too. Gladys usually attends with Edwin and Glenn. Of course there are innumerable other couples. To be sure, the Winter Garden has nothing on W. H. S. Then there are various couples who do not dance but also furnish amusement. Some of them are Ada and Norton, Viola and Bertis, Marguerite and Warren, and last, but by no means lease, Margaret and Preston.

We wish to acknowledge the kindness of the performers and thank them for furnishing amusement for our leisure hours. We must be entertained and they do it wonderfully.

Bloodthirsty J. C.

"What is conscience compared to the thrilling life of a soldier?" reasoned Mr. Glover with irresistible logic. Always having the courage of his convictions, he left the pokey subject of "general science" up in the air and proceeded to describe the proper methods of bayoneting a Hun. But he did not stop with telling.

Feeling in his inner consciouness the full dramatic value of the situation, he grasped a milometer in the approved manner and lunged savagely at the nearest boy.

It is hardly necessary to say that the poor boy (only a freshman, too,) was so terrorized that he did a back somersault to the other side of the laboratory and was with the greatest difficulty prevented from going into a dead faint.

How much longer are innocent students to be thus molested at peaceful pursuits by these militarists?

Mr. Lang Leads the Yelling

"All ready, folks. One two,, three,
 go. 'Yea, team—' What's the mattah,
 don't you-all know this yell? Now, listen! 'Yea——team!!"

He executed a dainty one-step up and down the platform.

"Aw, folks!! Wake up, heah. Get a little pep into it. Come on now—"

He pranced gracefully downstage and emphasized the holds with a perfect rendition of the hesitation.

"Theah! That's bettah! Let' do it again!!"

This time he livened things up by putting in a few fox trots, ending with a series of little bows and flutterings on tiptoe that reminded the senior girls of the "Pizzicato Polka."

The audience applauded vigorously and laughingly. Mr. Lang in "putting some pep" into the student body had covered himself and his dancing teacher with glory.

Working on the Paper

"Let's get down to business," said Miss Jackson. "We must make every minute count. Have you any assignments to make, Ruth?"

"Yes, Miss Jackson, but I left them up in the office. I'll go get them." And she did.

"Meanwhile," Miss Jackson continued, "let's discuss the League of Nations. What! Don't you know what the constitution is? Virgil, step here, please. Go to the library and bring twenty Kansas City Stars."

"Oh, Miss Jackson," exclaimed Mildred, running into the room, "we've lost some of the copy for this week's paper. We'll take your copy, please."

Then Miss Jackson pulled out several drawers in her desk and rummaged thru them looking for the copy. Finally, in the bottom drawer she found it, and gave it to Mildred who hurried out again.

At this moment in walked Max with his usual dignified air of responsibility.

"I've got a keen basket-ball story," he began, "and I want a page and a half in the paper. I must have it—"

"Why, Max," answered Miss Jackson, "it can't be done. We have—"

"Excuse me for interrupting," said Averill, "but I've got to know exactly how many pages we're going to have in our next special number."

"We ought to have the usual number" spoke up Marion.

"But Doyle can't get the ad—"

"I've got the assignments," exclaimed Romaine rushing into the room. "Ruth told me to give them. She's gone to the print shop."

As Romaine was giving the assignments, in walked Virgil with the Kansas City Stars which he quietly laid on Miss Jackson's desk. She passed them out, telling everyone to turn to page thirteen. In a few seconds she exclaimed, "Why, Virgil, you brought old papers. There's nothing in these about the League of Nations. Make a note of that, please."

Just then a boy from the print shop hurried in with the proof.

"Will you please read this right away?" he asked.

"Put your papers aside and read this proof," said Miss Jackson to the class. The proof was distributed, and all began correcting it diligently.

"And Miss Jackson," continued the boy from the print shop, "Mr. Houser says you will have to change this headline. There are six 's's' in it, and we have only two left in the shop."

"Romaine, please re-write that headline," instructed Miss Jackson.

At that moment the bell rang. Every one scrambled for the door. Indeed, it was the end of a perfect hour and a half in our Journalistic English room.

Science in the Broadest Term

"Now let me tell you people something—this may not be on the lesson, but you know the experience of one is the experience of all—I just want to give you a little fatherly advice.

"You'll never be happy till you have a home of your own. You can never imagine what a comfort it is to go home of an evening, when one is tired and needs someone to cheer him up, and to find someone waiting for him—someone who loves him, and does all in her power to make him happy.

"I have led a fast life, have played cards on a tree stump, have drunk enough whisky to float a battleship, have drifted from one end of the country to the other, but still she says it is not my past that she cares about, but what I am now.

"And just let me tell you, that young daughter of mine is going to be some girl. Why, she'll know all about science and debating by the time she's three years old. She could almost conduct a debate now, but I hate to start her in too young.

"Well, to get back to the lesson. Johnny will explain to us all about a vacuum now—but just remember this, folks, you'll never be really happy till you have a home of your own."

"What is it all about?" did you say? Then it is evident that you have never taken science from Mr. Loevenguth.

The Human Hurricane

A whirling, puffing, raving, roaring hurricane is no uncommon sight in Kansas. We native citizens have long ago come to realize the truth of this statement. Many and many are the times that, as we peacefully pursued our tasks, we have seen a threatening black cloud gather in the sky and, gradually growing darker and fiercer looking, finally burst upon us with all of its rage and fury.

The havoc and destruction that can be wrought by such violent commotion, Often the lives taken are many and those which are forever ruined by fright and nervous shock are innumerable. Nothing, be it great or small, valuable or worthless, mortal or immortal, can escape.

Altho it is but a matter of time and patience until the usual peace and quiet of the disturbed portion of the globe is again restored, the feeling of one who has survived the ravages of this monster can never be expressed in words or phrases. However, a remarkably complete realization of such a feeling may be obtained if one will only make it a point to observe Nestor Moore some morning about 9:30, when she is ready to start for Horace Mann, as she madly dashes through the corridors searching for some strong-armed person to crank Wesley's car.

That "undressed "English known as slang

(How shocking is the news!)
Is told to me most truthfully,
You daily, hourly use.

'Tis said you call a girl a "peach,"
If she seems to suit you well;
A "mess" or "pill," if otherwise;
But, pray, how can you tell?

You shorten costume to a "rag;"
A pretty hat's a "dream"
An easy lesson's named a "cinch;"
A funny thing, a "scream."

'Tis said you say "I get you," to,
Call every one "My dear;"
Oh! where you'll end I do not know;
For you I truly fear.

Oh, my dear girls! Oh, my dear boys!
'Tis bad beyond a doubt;
"Take it from me," 'tis awful form,
Why don't you "cut it out?"

A Tale of Woe

A long-suffering but resigned student sat beneath the eagle eye of Miss Kelly. Impatiently he looked from the clock to the face of his dear teacher and back again to the clock. The suspense was awful. His fate was growing darker every minute because he had planned a hilarious time in the evening. Being a conscientious young man, he had prepared every lesson except his "trig." and it had not even been assigned. His anxiety grew.

At last his preceptress took up her assignment book and with undue deliberation opened it and read,

"Page 25, 9 to 25 inclusive—"

Our hero's hopes wavered somewhat.

"Page 73, 25 to 69 inclusive; page 81, 67 to 87 inclusive; page 105, 98 to 118—"

A feeling of sickness caught and held the victim. He slid down in his seat—almost to the floor. But she went on;

"Now class, be sure to have all of your work in on time to-morrow, written out according to form, showing the logarithms. Remember, you can't get trigonometry and do anything else outside. You may use the remainder of the study period to get your lesson."

A momentary gleam of happiness lit up our friend's countenance but a look at the clock dispelled it. One minute of the period was left.

By this time his hopes had completely given out and that day, as on other days, he left the room looking as cheerful as a convicted criminal, floundering in the depth of despair.

Of all the things in the world that are renowned for their enormity and their gloomy effects on human beings, Miss Kelly's lengthy assignments could easily carry away the prize.
